INTERNSHIP SPRINGS AND WATER QUALITY PROJECT

Second Price Seco	Where	Parco Naturale Alpi Marittime; Valdieri (CN)
A weeks - 1st period: 30 May – 27 June 2010 - 2nd period: 27 June – 25 July 2010 ### appriod: 27 June – 25 July 2010	Starts	,
- 1st period: 30 May – 27 June 2010 - 2nd period: 27 June – 25 July 2010 e-mail contact Type of internship description of the internship The volunteers, in pairs will have to check the springs throughout the Park registering the coordinates with GPS and collecting water samples. At some springs chemical and physical measurements are to be taken (temperature, ph, etc) and samples of the species present in the water (macroinvertebrates, algae, etc) taken with simple field instruments following the Park's protocol. For five days a week with a work load of 8-9 hours a day Tequirements Necessary: - willingness to work outdoors in a mountain environment; - physical fitness and hiking skills; - good map reading skills - own hiking equipment, complete and suitable for the season - use of own vehicle Useful: - experience in the use of GPS; - experience in water sampling and chemical and physical analysis; - good knowledge of natural features of mountain environment Professional training - instruction in the concepts of territory, environment and the organization of the Park services, with particular attention to the use of macroinvertebrates in the evaluation of water quality In the use of apparatus for water sampling and GPS - tutor - Logistics - free lodgings in 2 bedded rooms in a Park Rest House, bathroom and shared kitchen facilities (board and travel expenses are volunteers' responsibility); - computer and internet access available at Park headquarters - on days-off there is the possibility of accompanying park staff in their work	Finishes	25 July 2010
e-mail contact Type of internship description of the internship The volunteers, in pairs will have to check the springs throughout the Park registering the coordinates with GPS and collecting water samples. At some springs chemical and physical measurements are to be taken (temperature, ph, etc) and samples of the species present in the water (macroinvertebrates, algae, etc) taken with simple field instruments following the Park's protocol. For five days a week with a work load of 8-9 hours a day requirements Necessary: - willingness to work outdoors in a mountain environment; - physical fitness and hiking skills; - good map reading skills - own hiking equipment, complete and suitable for the season - use of own vehicle Useful: - experience in the use of GPS; - experience in water sampling and chemical and physical analysis; - good knowledge of natural features of mountain environment Professional training - instruction in the concepts of territory, environment and the organization of the Park services, with particular attention to the use of macroinvertebrates in the evaluation of water quality. - In the use of apparatus for water sampling and GPS - tutor Logistics - free lodgings in 2 bedded rooms in a Park Rest House, bathroom and shared kitchen facilities (board and travel expenses are volunteers' responsibility); - computer and internet access available at Park headquarters - on days-off there is the possibility of accompanying park staff in their work	Minimum stay
Semail contact Type of Mapping and sampling of mountain springs Mapping and sampling of mountain springs The volunteers, in pairs will have to check the springs throughout the Park registering the coordinates with GPS and collecting water samples. At some springs chemical and physical measurements are to be taken (temperature, ph, etc) and samples of the species present in the water (macroinvertebrates, algae, etc) taken with simple field instruments following the Park's protocol. For five days a week with a work load of 8-9 hours a day Tequirements Necessary:		· ·
Type of internship Mapping and sampling of mountain springs	"
the internship description of the internship are gistering the coordinates with GPS and collecting water samples. At some springs chemical and physical measurements are to be taken (temperature, ph, etc) and samples of the species present in the water (macroinvertebrates, algae, etc) taken with simple field instruments following the Park's protocol. For five days a week with a work load of 8-9 hours a day requirements Necessary: - willingness to work outdoors in a mountain environment; - physical fitness and hiking skills; - good map reading skills - own hiking equipment, complete and suitable for the season - use of own vehicle Useful: - experience in the use of GPS; - experience in water sampling and chemical and physical analysis; - good knowledge of natural features of mountain environment we offer Professional training - instruction in the concepts of territory, environment and the organization of the Park services, with particular attention to the use of macroinvertebrates in the evaluation of water quality. - In the use of apparatus for water sampling and GPS - tutor Logistics - free lodgings in 2 bedded rooms in a Park Rest House, bathroom and shared kitchen facilities (board and travel expenses are volunteers' responsibility); - computer and internet access available at Park headquarters - on days-off there is the possibility of accompanying park staff in their work the internship The volunteers, in pairs will have to check the springs throughout the Park registering the coordinates with GPS and collecting water samples. At some springs chemical and physical measurements are to be taken (temperature, ph, etc) and samples of the species present in the water (macroinvertebrates, algae, etc) taken with simple field instruments following the Park's protocol. For five days a week with a work load of 8-9 hours a day requirements Necessary: - willingness to work outdoors in a mountain environment; - physical fitness and hiking skills; - good map reading skills - own hiking equipment, complete and suitable for the season - use of own vehicle Useful: - experience in the use of GPS; - experience in water sampling and chemical and physical analysis; - good knowledge of natural features of mountain environment we offer Professional training - instruction in the concepts of territory, environment and the organization of the Park services, with particular attention to the use of macroinvertebrates in the evaluation of water quality. - In the use of apparatus for water sampling and GPS - tutor Logistics - free lodgings in 2 bedded rooms in a Park Rest House, bathroom and shared kitchen facilities (board and travel expenses are volunteers' responsibility); - computer and internet access available at Park headquarters - on days-off there is the possibility of accompanying park staff in their work difficulty		Mapping and sampling of mountain springs registering the coordinates with GPS and collecting water samples. At some springs chemical and physical measurements are to be taken (temperature, ph, etc) and samples of the species present in the water (macroinvertebrates, algae, etc) taken with simple field instruments following the Park's protocol. For five days a week with a work load of 8-9 hours a day requirements Necessary: - willingness to work outdoors in a mountain environment; - physical fitness and hiking skills; - good map reading skills - own hiking equipment, complete and suitable for the season - use of own vehicle Useful: - experience in the use of GPS; - experience in water sampling and chemical and physical analysis; - good knowledge of natural features of mountain environment Professional training - instruction in the concepts of territory, environment and the organization of the Park services, with particular attention to the use of macroinvertebrates in the evaluation of water quality In the use of apparatus for water sampling and GPS - tutor Logistics - free lodgings in 2 bedded rooms in a Park Rest House, bathroom and shared kitchen facilities (board and travel expenses are volunteers' responsibility); - computer and internet access available at Park headquarters - on days-off there is the possibility of accompanying park staff in their work		The volunteers in pairs will have to check the springs throughout the Park
- willingness to work outdoors in a mountain environment; - physical fitness and hiking skills; - good map reading skills - own hiking equipment, complete and suitable for the season - use of own vehicle Useful: - experience in the use of GPS; - experience in water sampling and chemical and physical analysis; - good knowledge of natural features of mountain environment we offer Professional training - instruction in the concepts of territory, environment and the organization of the Park services, with particular attention to the use of macroinvertebrates in the evaluation of water quality In the use of apparatus for water sampling and GPS - tutor Logistics - free lodgings in 2 bedded rooms in a Park Rest House, bathroom and shared kitchen facilities (board and travel expenses are volunteers' responsibility); - computer and internet access available at Park headquarters - on days-off there is the possibility of accompanying park staff in their work difficulty	the internship	registering the coordinates with GPS and collecting water samples. At some springs chemical and physical measurements are to be taken (temperature, ph, etc) and samples of the species present in the water (macroinvertebrates, algae, etc) taken with simple field instruments following the Park's protocol.
- experience in the use of GPS; - experience in water sampling and chemical and physical analysis; - good knowledge of natural features of mountain environment We offer Professional training - instruction in the concepts of territory, environment and the organization of the Park services, with particular attention to the use of macroinvertebrates in the evaluation of water quality In the use of apparatus for water sampling and GPS - tutor Logistics - free lodgings in 2 bedded rooms in a Park Rest House, bathroom and shared kitchen facilities (board and travel expenses are volunteers' responsibility); - computer and internet access available at Park headquarters - on days-off there is the possibility of accompanying park staff in their work difficulty easy	requirements	 willingness to work outdoors in a mountain environment; physical fitness and hiking skills; good map reading skills own hiking equipment, complete and suitable for the season use of own vehicle instruction in the concepts of territory, environment and the organization of the Park services, with particular attention to the use of macroinvertebrates in the evaluation of water quality. In the use of apparatus for water sampling and GPS tutor Logistics free lodgings in 2 bedded rooms in a Park Rest House, bathroom and shared kitchen facilities (board and travel expenses are volunteers' responsibility); computer and internet access available at Park headquarters on days-off there is the possibility of accompanying park staff in their work difficulty 		 experience in the use of GPS; experience in water sampling and chemical and physical analysis; good knowledge of natural features of mountain environment
shared kitchen facilities (board and travel expenses are volunteers' responsibility); - computer and internet access available at Park headquarters - on days-off there is the possibility of accompanying park staff in their work difficulty easy	we offer	 instruction in the concepts of territory, environment and the organization of the Park services, with particular attention to the use of macroinvertebrates in the evaluation of water quality. In the use of apparatus for water sampling and GPS tutor
		shared kitchen facilities (board and travel expenses are volunteers' responsibility); - computer and internet access available at Park headquarters
This activity requires a certain physical fitness although speed is not important and is not technically difficult.	difficulty	This activity requires a certain physical fitness although speed is not important
	Contribution
	for expenses
useful links http://www.parks.it/parco.alpi.marittime/	useful links	http://www.parks.it/parco.alpi.marittime/